The trouble about the pretty new models in jewelry is that they take a "rage" and grow horribly common. Not so with these exclusive yet very reasonably priced things we are showing.
Belt pins and buckles, collar
pins, lockets, hat pins, combs, bracelets, purses, fobs, and so on,
and this is the time of times when

PELICAN LAKE HAS A DISASTROUS FIRE

Damage Is Estimated At $15,000—
Eagle River Also Experiences
Heavy Loss

Last Thursday afternoon as the New North went to press, fire at Pelican Lake did damage to the amount of $15,000.

The blaze was first discovered in the roof of Rice's store block and fanned by the strong wind soon spread throughout the building. The citizens labored hard to save their property and succeeded in keeping the fire within a certain limit. Several times the roofs of the Beech Hotel and Northwestern depot were afire but these buildings were not destroyed.

Michael Garrity, a Northwestern freight conductor, and Joe Hutchinson a Chicago man, were painfully blistered about their faces and hands while fighting the fire. Wrapped in a wet blanket, Garrity remained on the hotel roof and did splendid work in preventing the flames from spreading. The heat from the burning buildings was terrific, but he stayed at his post like a hero.

Mr. Hutchinson spent his efforts in helping the people save their dwellings.

The buildings ruined were: Rice's store, saloon and residence; Motzfeldt's new store, and a few smaller structures. It is understood that the loss is covered by insurance.

Eagle River Has Fire

One of the worst fires in the history of Eagle River occurred there early last Friday morning when the Laughlin-O'Connor block was completely destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown and the loss is estimated at $30,000. The building was owned by Thos. Laughlin and Judge Geo. E. O'Connor of that city.

Among the heavy losers in the fire are several men, well known in Rhineland. They are Messrs. Laughlin and O'Connor, building and fixtures, $20,000, insurance $6000. Alex Higgins, law office, $1000, partially insured. Daniel Graham, office fixtures and surveyor's implements, $1000, no insurance. Amos Radcliffe, law library and office fixtures, $800, no insurance. Dr. Thorpe, doctor's implements and office fixtures $1000, no insurance. The law library of Judge O'Connor, valued at $1000 was also ruined.

The Eagle River Review states that in all probability the ruined block will be replaced by a modern,
up-to-date brick or concrete building.

DIRECTORS VISIT PLANT

Minneapolis Cedar & Lumber Company Officers at Gagen

The officers and directors of the Minneapolis Cedar & Lumber Company visited their saw mill at Gagen, last week and made a thorough inspection of the plant and improvements recently made there. They found that under the able management of the company's superintendent, F. H. Piehl, that the mill was in good running shape and had been doing some excellent work. In their logging outfit, the company has an up-to-date equipment, such as a log hauler, forty-five sets of heavy logging sleighs fitted up for the hauler, four Raymond sleigh loaders and a Raymond gasoline decking machine.
The steam hauler makes two trips a day on a nine mile haul, the average train load being fifteen sleighs. In this manner about 100,000 feet of logs per day is hauled to the mills.

In addition to the steam logging outfit the company has also placed a horizontal band resaw in their saw mill and look forward to the manufacturing of a large amount of lumber during the coming season. They have a fine lot of basswood and birch logs to which they will give their first attention and have the lumber ready for the market at an early date. The company's cut during the last winter has been exceptionally large and includes a number of poles and posts which they logged in the northern part of Minnesota on the M. & I. railroad.

The Misses Davis of Redlands, Cal., accompanied Miss Dorothy Brown Abome from Milwaukee. Downer College and are spending the spring vacation with her.

WOULD ENTICE SETTLERS HERE

One Man Says Prohibition Would Increase Population

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harness of Indiana, who recently bought eighty acres of farming land about half way between Lake George and Lake Thompson, will soon erect a comfortable house, and several necessary out buildings on the tract.

Before moving to Oneida county, last September, the Harness family lived for a few years in Oklahoma and other southwestern states. Mr.
Harness thinks that this is the finest country he has ever resided in. He is surprised to find fish and game so plentiful and says that no other state in the union offers as many induc-ments to the homeseeker.

Mr. Harness is a strong temperance advocate and declares that if any county in northern Wisconsin could guarantee "no license" for a period of twenty years, that settlers, especially from the eastern states, would flock in and double the population in less than five years. He adds that the liquor question in the east, like the tariff, is making the poor people poorer and the rich richer.

MEXICAN CROOK IS TAKEN TO APPLETON

Monty Cravey, Released Here, Is At Once Rearrested On Another Charge.

The case against Monty Cravey, alias Paul Langebolt, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was dismissed in municipal court, Monday. West Wilson, proprietor, of the Monaco Hotel at Monico, who made the complaint against Cravey, appeared in court and expressed his willingness to allow proceedings against the man to be dropped.

Is at Once Rearrested.

As soon as the court had granted Cravey his liberty he was rearrested by Sheriff Jilson on instructions from the authorities at Appleton.

Sheriff Koch of Otagamie county arrived in Rhineland, Tuesday night and left the following morning with his prisoner.

Cravey is alleged to have defrauded people at Appleton and secured money on worthless paper. He is a shrewd individual and is said to have successfully operated his game in many other cities. Horse trading and card, sharpening are two of this crook's chief diversions. Farmer's and conservative business men are known to be numbered among his victims.

May Be Fugitive

By birth the man is a Mexican and it is the expression of the officers that he is a fugitive from his native country. Often in his conversation he makes peculiar statements which would cause one to believe that he at one time committed some grave crime in Mexico and was forced to flee to escape justice.

A reward of twenty-five dollars for Cravey's arrest was paid to Sheriff Jilson by Sheriff Koch.

RIPON GLEE CLUB PLEAS.

Large Audience Hears Concert at the Congregational Church.

The concert of the Ripon College
Glee Club at the Cong. Church Saturday evening, was pronounced by all in attendance as one of the most delightful entertainments ever given in the city.

This was the second appearance of the Club in Rhineland and the audience present was much larger than that of last year. The program consisted of popular college songs and old familiar ballads. Each number was well rendered and encores were frequent.

Misses Welmer and Miss Bintliff, instructors at Ripon, gave several musical selections of a high class nature which proved pleasing features. A sacred pipe organ concert was also given at the church Sunday evening. The Club left Monday for Tomahawk.

The members of the Frisella Society, under whose auspices the concert was held, express satisfaction over the success of the affair.

Flint Stone has taken a position with the T. C. Wood Hardware Co.
He will sell farm machinery throughout this county.

CHILD IS INJURED BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Fred Backstrom Is Hit By Morgan Car—Skull Is Fractured and Leg Broken

The first serious automobile accident to be recorded in this city took place on the North Side, Monday forenoon, when little Fred Backstrom, aged seven years, son of Chas. Back-strom, was struck by one of J. H.
Morgan's cars and badly hurt.

Particulars of Accident

The machine occupied by Gordon Morgan, chauffeur, W. H. Gilligan Jr., and E. A. Forbes, was going to the county poor farm where the party had work to do for the Morgan Electrical Supply Company.

The accident, which according to eye witnesses, was purely unavoidable, occurred as the car was in front of the North Side school building. It was at recess time and a number of little children, evidently attracted by the auto, ran out toward
it. Gordon Morgan, observing the children, lowered the speed of the car until it was traveling at a very slow rate. In the mean time Messrs. Gilligan and Forbes shouted to the little ones to be careful. A wood wagon, traveling in the opposite direction, sighted the Backstrom boy from the sight of those in the auto. He either was riding on the rear end of the wagon and dropped off or ran around it, for suddenly he appeared within two feet of the approaching car. Gordon shut off the power at once, but the boy was knocked under the machine before it could be stopped. When picked up he lay directly behind the front wheel. He was taken at once to a physician's office where a hasty examination showed that his left leg was broken between the hip and knee and his skull was fractured just behind the left ear. Being hit by the lamp on the car probably caused this latter injury.

He Will Recover.

The injured boy was later taken to St. Mary's hospital where for a time his recovery looked doubtful.
He is now reported to be resting comfortably and is thought to be out of danger.

The affair is a deplorable one and deeply felt by all concerned. Circumstances however, show that the accident was not due to carelessness and that every precaution was taken by the driver and those in the car to prevent its occurrence.

HOUSE AND BARN BURN

Forest Fires Are Also Numerous In
This Vicinity

The house and barn on the Atwood Smith farm, about one and a half miles south of the city, burned last Friday. Several tons of hay owned by Robt. Getchell, were destroyed. To all appearances the fire was of incendiary origin and an investigation will probably be made by the state fire warden.

Owing to the dry condition of the surrounding country, forest fires have been numerous in this section during the last week. With the high winds the fires have moved rapidly and in many instances farmers have experienced difficulty in keeping their lives in the woods these days, are warned to be careful against dropping lighted matches or burning tobacco in the underbrush, as this often results in causing heavy damage.

KILLED AT BLACKWELL

Edward Thon, a Wausau mill man who had an acquaintance in this city, was fatally injured by being whirled around a shafting in a planing mill at Blackwell, Forest county, last Friday. Sustaining internal injuries and a fracture of the skull, he was rendered unconscious and never recovered. His death occurred in a hospital at Wabeno.

TWO GO TO ASYLUM

David Hanks and Chris. Warner, both of this city, were committed to the asylum at Mendota by Judge Billings, Monday. The unfortunates were taken to the institution, Tuesday, by Undersheriff Baldwin and H.
L. Jewett.

Warner has been of unsound mind for the last few years and was previously an inmate of the Northern Hospital at Winnebago. He is the father of a large family.

SLEEPS ON THE TRACK

Tired Woodsman Has Narrow Escape
From Horrible Death

The engineer of an east bound Soo freight train discovered a human form resting on the track within fifty yard of his engine near Hotsen, last Saturday afternoon. The train, which was not moving fast, was quickly brought to a standstill. Upon investigation by the train crew it was found that a man, evidently a woods laborer, had fallen asleep on the ties and his head was directly over one of the rails. There is no doubt but what the fellow had been imbibing freely in something stronger than water, and becoming drowsy, chose the track for his bed.

A burly trakenan lifted the tired one to his feet and with a vicious kick on the sunny side of his overalls sent him flying through space at a speed swifter than Halley's comet.
The stranger alighted in a clump of thick underbrush, where after directing a few rambling remarks at the crew, he fell back to finish his
nap. Thus was the undertaker again cheated.

WELL KNOWN FORMER CITIZEN IS CALLED

John Collins Dies In St. Paul Hospital
After Two Years of Suffering.

A telegram received in this city Monday evening, conveyed the sad tidings of the death of John Collins, a former prominent and esteemed Rhineland man, which occurred that afternoon in the St. Paul City Hospital.

Mr. Collins had been in failing health for the last two years and for several months past had been confined to his bed. His affliction was of a cancerous nature and he underwent much suffering. The disease resulted from a slight injury to one of his toes which Mr. Collins received two years ago. At first he gave the matter little attention, but as the pain became more intense he consulted a physician and learned that cancer had developed. In the hope that the progress of the disease might be checked he submitted to an operation, but this proved of no help. For the last sixteen months or more he had been at St. Paul, where his parents reside. Most of the time he spent in the hospital.

Until the time that he was taken ill, Mr. Collins was roadmaster on the Rhineland-Weyerhaeuser division of the Soo railway. This position he held for a number of years and was well known and popular among the railroad men. In Rhineland he had a wide circle of warm personal friends and his death is deeply intimated here.

Mr. Collins was fifty-one years of age and a native of Shtetoyan County. He is survived by his aged parents, one sister, Miss Margaret Collins of St. Paul, and two brothers, Jerry Collins of Fond du Lac and Dennis Collins of Fargo, N. D.

The remains were brought to this city yesterday morning and the funeral was held from St. Mary's church, in Requiem high mass was said by Rev.
Father Hyacinth, who also spoke feelingly of the deceased. Members of B. P. O. E. lodge 533 attended the services in a body. All of the relatives mentioned above and a number of friends from Minneapolis, St. Paul and other cities on the Soo railway were present.

The body was laid to rest in St.
Mary's cemetery beside the grave of Mr. Collins' wife, who passed away two years ago.

AT SIXTY CENTS PER BOX

The first strawberries to appear in Rhineland, this season were on sale last Saturday at Saterstrom's store. The berries were not of the hot house variety, but were grown in the south and retailed at sixty cents per box. They were large and lucious and probably of fine flavor, but the price kept most people from sampling them.

It will be several weeks before strawberries are on the market in any quantity and at a figure favorable to the average pocketbook.

RHINELANDER,

FROM NEARBY TOWNS

Wausau—Wesley Garboe, a Russian, who has been in the United States less than a year, applied to the authorities, a few days ago for warrants against city officials whom he claimed were worshipping more than one God, and otherwise meriting condign punishment. He dressed himself in latest spring clothes, but when arrested on the charge of being insane he fought the officers like a mad man and his clothes were torn to rags. He will probably be committed to the asylum.

Washburn—The ice in this harbor and at other ports along the south shore of Lake Superior has disappeared and boats can now enter safely. This is the earliest that navigation has opened for a number of years.

New London—Marshall Puss of Weyauwega, and Ruy McAllister, a fiery man of that village, engaged in a fight, and as a result McAllister was severely wounded by a bullet from the officer's gun. Puss was arrested and at a preliminary hearing was released on $1,000 bail. The only 12 feet. When the new intake is laid to have originated late in a dispute over some drinks purchased in a saloon.

Merrill—David Livingston, proprietor of the Livingston Mercantile Co. of this city, one of the largest department stores in this part of the state, died suddenly of apoplexy, Thursday. He was a member of the firm by the same name that conducts stores at Wausau, Paratoo and Kankakee. He was fifty years of age and a member of the Masonic and Elks' lodges.

Crandon—The county board at a recent meeting voted not to establish a municipal court in Forest Co. The action of the board in this matter is not approved of by many of the Crandon people.

Stevens Point—The Rev. A. Forsyth, pastor of the Mill Creek church, has submitted the plans for the new church edifice to be built at that place this summer, to Bishop Fox of Green Bay. The contract has been let to Mr. Demske at $8,600.

Florence—The water and light commission is building a new intake into Fisher Lake. The old intake is located but 25 feet from the shore line, and the depth of water there is only 12 feet. When the new intake is finished water will be taken at a point 185 feet from the shore through a heavy 12 inch galvanized pipe. The depth of water there is 24 feet, and the suction pipe will be about 15 feet below the lake's surface, with a strainer attachment.

Tomahawk—At the coming spring election the people of Tomahawk will vote on the proposition of buying the Hog's Back from the Bradley company for a city park. The company agrees to sell the beautiful tract for $10,000, the first payment of $2000 to be made in April, 1911, and annual payments of $2000 thereafter. It is estimated that the timber on the land is alone worth more than the price asked.

Ironwood—The officials of the Oliver Iron Mining Company, the Cleveland-Cliffs Company and the New Port Mining Company have received word from headquarters that the companies have decided to grant all men in their employ an increase in wages. The new scale is to take effect April 1st and applies to all employees working in and about the mines. It is approximately a ten per cent increase.

Prentice—The sawmill and all but two houses in the little village of Prentice were destroyed by fire, Thursday afternoon. The mill and most of the other buildings ruined were owned by Vollmar & Bellow of Marshfield. The plant, while fully equipped, had not been in operation for several years. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

Ladysmith—The News-Budget says that prohibition has helped rather than injured the two towns of Bruce and Ingram which were voted "dry" last spring. The towns have been more orderly, more money has been spent in public improvements and the laboring men are more prosperous and happy than ever before during the saloon days. One man who worked and voted for the saloons last year, now sees the error of his way and is talking as loudly in favor of a "dry" town.

Hurley—The Soo line has put on another passenger train between Mellen and Bessemer for the benefit of the range towns. The train leaves Hurley for Mellen at 3:22 in the afternoon and returns at 5:47. The Hurley business men lately petitioned the Soo officials for another train and the same was granted. People from Iron Belt, Upsen and other range towns can now come to Hurley, do their shopping and return within reasonable hours.

Oconto—The Oconto county board holds the record for quick meetings. Although three months had elapsed since the last meeting the board met Tuesday and transacted all business in a single session which lasted less than one hour and a half. The regular batch of bills was allowed and not a resolution was introduced.

CAUSES 95 PER CENT OF DISEASES

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles and How to Remedy Them

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain them only at our store.—The Rexall Store, J. J. Reardon, Rhinelander, Wisconsin.

HICKS FOR APRIL

Late snow squalls, frosts and high winds is the prediction of April weather in the Hicks' forecast which says the month will open with a storm from the 2nd to 6th, followed by another from the 8th to 10th, with frosts and much cooler. Cool nights will be the rule the first half of the month and from the 14th to 19th there will be general storm conditions. After a storm on the 21st to 23rd the temperature will rise and a warm wave will sweep this section until the 25th when a return of chilly nights is promised.

CONTAINS WOLF DESCRIPTION

County Clerk Carr has received a pamphlet issued by Secretary of State Frear which contains directions for examination of the scalp descriptions of the various breeds of wolf when passing on claims for bounty on wild animals.

Claims for bounty are often presented on dogs, foxes, wild cats, coons and badgers, either through mistake or with deliberate intent to defraud. The pamphlet also contains descriptions of these animals.

To the resident of the county that pays $10 bounty on wolf scalps the state pays the same amount in addition. The law requires that the claimant for bounty present the entire carcass to the clerk, and the clerk has no authority to grant a certificate until he has made a careful examination of it.

Capt. Bogtrud again hits the Bull's Eye

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says:—"I have suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and have used several well known kidney medicines all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I was subjected to severe backache and pains in my kidneys with oppression and of ten-times a cloudy voiding. While upon arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and once more feel like my own self. All this I owe solely to Foley's Kidney Pills and always recommend them to my fellow sufferers."

FIND LOST MAN'S BODY

Working near Watersmeet recently, a piece maker in the employ of the Bonifas Lumber company found the remains of a man in a cedar swamp about one and one half miles from the camp. The bones are supposed to be those of a man named McDonald. An inquest was held and the verdict of the coroner's jury was that the man came to his death through exposure. July last a one armed man who said his name was McDonald appeared at the Bonifas camp and stopped over night. The next afternoon he walked down the right of way and that was the last seen of him alive. McDonald was about 61 years old, six feet tall and weighed about 200 pounds.

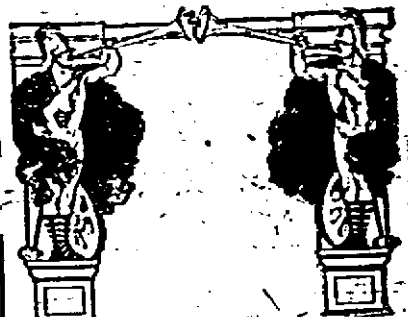

With the opening of spring the government crusade against the housefly will begin with great vigor all along the line. Special bulletins are in course of preparation, containing all the true and tried recipes for killing flies, and these will be mailed broadcast, particularly throughout the country districts. These bulletins also will describe the various diseases which may be attributed to the ravages of the housefly. The department of agriculture believes that by concerted action the pest may be exterminated. So note it be. Let everybody join in the work. The housefly must go.

MEASURE SHOWN TO BE UNWORTHY

PROGRESSIVES PROVE TRUTH OF THEIR CONTENTIONS AS TO THE RAILROAD BILL.

IN INTEREST OF COMPANIES

One of the Sound Reasons Advanced for its Rejection—Action of Senators Important—Progressives Satisfied with Advancement Made.

Washington.—Every charge which the Progressives made in regard to the purpose of the railroad bill prepared by Attorney General Wickersham was conceded upon the floor of the senate before the measure had been under discussion two days.

It was reported out of the committee without consideration of its details.

The vital hearings upon the measure were not before the committee of the senate charged with the duty of considering and framing legislation dealing with interstate commerce. These hearings were before an extra legal commission designated by the president, and a record of the proceedings has not been preserved.

It is a measure entirely different from the draft first proposed by this extra legal commission, the changes having been made to meet the objections of the railroads, and without opportunity to know the reasons or the necessity for them.

It circumscribes the powers of the commission and makes it impossible for that body to defend its own orders.

It gives the railroads additional reasons to control the department of justice, and to look carefully after the appointment of an attorney general, who under its terms, is the only person with authority to determine what suits, if any, shall be defended by the government.

Would Permit Mergers.

The bill, in so far as the corporations are concerned, nullifies the Sherman anti-trust act. It permits the merger of railroads.

The terms of the bill affecting traffic agreement between railroads are not in accord with the platform declaration of the Republican party nor with the public utterances of President Taft or of former President Roosevelt. They declared that these traffic agreements should be subject to the approval of the commission, while the bill provides not for approval, but only that the commission shall have right to challenge such an agreement in the court.

These were the principal points brought out in the masterly presentation of Senator Cummins, in leading off in the debate upon the bill protesting against the interstate commerce act.

An unprecedented situation exists in regard to this bill. No measure of such importance has ever been crowded into congress under similar circumstances. No man in the senate stands sponsor for this bill, and none who support it seem to be either competent or willing to defend it. The usual proceeding when a bill is offered from a committee is for the chairman or some member of the committee who is placed in charge of the measure, to make a statement in support of it and defend it from the attack of those who oppose it. For days the Progressive members of the senate anxiously inquired if there was any member of the committee who desired to speak upon the bill, and at every turn they were met with the reply that no one was ready or desired to speak. Finally when it became evident that the purpose of the organization was not to discuss the measure, but merely to force it to a vote simply because Senator Aldrich and those who were standing with him felt that by not discussing it, and by forcing it to a vote, that there would be votes enough to carry it through the senate, the opponents of the bill led off in the discussion. Senator Cummins had not been arguing the bill for an hour before the organization was driven from its untenable position, and was compelled to abandon the policy of silence. Under the leading by Senator Cummins and some facetious remarks by Senator Bailey, Senator Elkins, who is in charge of the measure, was forced into the statement that he did not know whether he intended to talk or not, because sometimes by talking votes would be lost for a measure. Of course Senator Aldrich immediately called over Senator Elkins and quietly disciplined him for this rash admission. What Senator Elkins said was true, so far as this measure is concerned, because it is evident that the more it is discussed the more votes it will lose.

Aldrich Forced to Surrender.

Under the analysis of the terms of the bill made by Senator Cummins, Senator Aldrich was forced to make a tender of surrender, in so far as the paragraph of the bill legalizing traffic agreements without the approval of the interstate commerce commission, and the paragraph which is a repeal of the anti-trust law are concerned. It is now conceded that the debate on the railroad bill will run over several weeks, and that it will be an entirely different measure when it leaves the senate than when it was forced in from the committee on interstate commerce.

Nothing that has happened in recent years in the senate so thoroughly demonstrated the alacrity with which certain members of that body will jump to the defense of the country than the vote upon the resolution to investigate the Washington Gas Light Company.

The resolution provided that the investigation proposed should be made by the committee on corporations organized in the District of Columbia, a standing committee of the senate. If its title indicates that it is to have jurisdiction over any subject it is over the subject of such a corporation as is furnishing gas to the people of Washington.

Senator Brown asked that that resolution be referred to the committee on contingent expenses of the senate. That is, that it take the usual and orderly course. Senator Gallinger, the head of the committee on the District of Columbia, wanted that it should go to his committee. Mr. Gallinger's motion was ruled out of order and then he moved to lay the motion to refer to the committee on the contingent expenses of the senate upon the table. That motion was carried by a vote of 32 to 30. It is interesting as illustrating the line-up of the senate upon corporation matters and for the further reason that it shows there were 11 Democrats absent and not paired. This means that a majority of those were somewhere about the capitol, and had they been present and attending to the business of legislation, they could have prevented the Washington Gas Light Company from working its will in the senate. Fourteen Republicans broke away from the Aldrich Organization upon this vote and joined with 16 Democrats that made up the 30 votes that were cast against the violation of the well established procedure of the senate in order to serve the gas company.

Progressives Well Satisfied.

The overruling of Speaker Cannon, his loss of control of the house, the fight of the Progressive Republicans to amend the house rules, the opening of the discussion of the railway bill in the senate by Senator Cummins, who forced the abandonment by the Aldrich machine of its position in relation to that measure, and the demonstration of the Washington Gas Light Company's power in the senate, made a week that was one of great significance in the legislative history of the country.

The events show that while the power of the great interests is still potent in congress it is weakening. Progressives are elated at the turn in events. Support of their position came from unexpected quarters. Such support is an admission that the people in the country are thinking along the lines laid down in the Progressive program and that members of congress are beginning to heed the wishes of their constituents. While the result of the gas fight in the senate was disappointing, it was encouraging in that it was the first time in years that a matter of this kind could get a hearing on the floor of the senate by way of a report from one of its committees. This is encouraging and shows that in the senate as well as in the house the influence of the people is manifesting itself.

Now for Business.

"I am tired of consulting particular interests to see whether or not a thing ought to go through. I am in favor of consulting every interest to see what its argument may be and want to give justice to every interest. I want to know if a thing is right. If it is right, we can convince the people that it is right and they will be with us."—President Taft.

While the house of representatives was reaching the climax of its interline war over the revision of the rules, the chief executive of the nation and head of the Republican party was making this significant declaration.

In this utterance he spoke his own mind. But it expresses as well the overwhelming sentiment of the rank and file of the party and of the whole people of the nation. The battle in the house was only another expression of the same feeling. The president is tired, and we are all tired of wrangling, evasion, and delay.

And now the issue of "Cannonism" is overboard. The decks are cleared for action. Let us have action. The president's legislation in fulfillment of the pledges of the party knocks at the doors of congress. It is up to all members of the party there to see that these pledges are fully kept. Conservation, interstate commerce law amendment, injunction restriction, postal savings banks, are all on the program to which the party is bound. A Republican congress cannot longer evade responsibility for legislation upon these major subjects in full compliance with the mandate of the people at the polls.

Chance for Legislation.

The Republican floor leader in the house, as the smoke of battle clears, declares: "The house is left with a coherent Republican majority, which will enable us to pass the legislation that President Taft has been urging upon congress."

The leader of the "Insurgents," Representative Norris, summing up the situation for the victors, says: "I am making no warfare on the Republican working for party success. I believe what we Republicans have done today will make for party success. There may be other changes in the rules, but I do not anticipate they will come at this session. I am through with my fight for the present."

The order of the day is: "Forward together." Regulars, so-called, and so-called "Insurgents" face now the party duty of harmonious action in the fulfillment of the party promises.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Wednesday afternoon the regular fortnightly meetings of the literary societies were held in their respective rooms. In the Sophomore Phoenix Club, the chief feature was a debate between the two star debaters, William Willette and Irvin Sheffer, the argument terminating in favor of the later.

The Economics class had their quarterly examination Tuesday and Wednesday during their regular class period. Tests in the other subjects occur Thursday and Friday.

The Spring vacation occurs next week. Owing to the unusual weather conditions prevailing, there may be heard considerable planning for picnics and various outdoor pleasures. But if anything can change this beautiful weather, surely vacation can.

Marguerite Howart, who recently moved to this city from Green Bay, enrolled on Monday with the class of 1912.

Miss Ranum will spend her spring vacation at her home in La Crosse; Mr. Desmond at Madison, Mr. Harrison in Milwaukee, and Mr. Whitcomb in Mellen. The other teachers will take their week's rest in Rhinelander.

Pink eye, or some contagious ailment very much like it, has become very prevalent in the High School. The Juniors and Seniors seem for some reason to be most afflicted.

Myrtle McLaughlin, 11, has been absent for a week on account of illness.

Louis Fenelon, 11, sustained a sprained ankle while showing his young brother how high school athletes run.

Plans have been about perfected for the organization of a base ball nine for this spring.

Sheriff Al Koch of Appleton was in the city yesterday on official business. He is a brother of Robert and Gus. Koch, Northwestern locomotive engineers, who have a large acquaintance here.

The following report was read:

To the Chairman and Hon. County Board of Supervisors of Oneida Co., Wis.: Gentlemen:

I the undersigned Supervisor appointed by your Hon. body to look over the survey made by Geo. W. Smith on the new proposed highway running west from the city of Rhineland, Wis., to the Tomahawk River in town 36-8E. Beg leave to make the following report:

I started at the X post on the town line between Towns 36-6 and 36-7 between sections 2 and 3 and then proceeded east one and a half miles to the range line, continued east on the town line between towns 36-7 and 37-7. Still kept on going east on said town line between towns 36-8 and 37-8 and finished at the Section Corners between sections 35 and 36 Town 36-8 and sections 1 and 2 in town 37-8.

I found that Mr. Smith done a first class job and that he found all the original bearing trees and set corners accordingly, both as to section corners and quarter posts. I found furthermore that he had cut a very wide open line all this distance and done in general a very good piece of work in a good and workmanlike manner.

Respectfully submitted,
B. N. MORAN, Committee.

Moved by Supervisor Brown and seconded by Supervisor Conniff that the report be accepted. Carried.

All bills on file were referred to the proper committees.

FELT MAY DIE

F. C. Schultz of Wabeno, who severely stabbed Hugo Felt in a free for all fight, a few days ago, has been held to circuit court with bonds placed at $1000. The other two participants in the mix-up are now serving jail sentences. Felt is in a critical condition and the chances for his recovery are small.

Many residents of Rhineland, who have plenty of ground space, are embarking in the chicken raising business this year. The Rhode Island Red fowls are the ones that seem to find the most favor among the breeders and this variety can be found in several of the largest pens. Considering the prices of eggs and poultry the chicken business should prove a profitable one.

MRS. ROSA BOYER, 121 Sherman Ave., Evanston, Ill., writes: "If any one has reason to praise Peruna it is surely myself."

"Last spring I became so run down from the serious effects of a lingering cold, that several complications united in pulling me down. I could neither eat nor sleep well, and lost flesh and spirit."

"I finally tried Peruna and it did wonders for me. In two weeks I was like another person, and in a month I felt better than I ever had before."

"I thank Peruna for new life and strength. I send you two pictures, so you can see what Peruna has done for me."

"One of my neighbors had stomach trouble. I recommended Peruna to her, and now she is well and healthy, after having been pronounced hopeless by several physicians."

How Hair Grows.

It is a curious fact that a boy's hair grows one-half slower than a girl's. In boys the average rate of growth is three feet three inches in six years, being an average of .018 inch per day. During the twenty-first and twenty-fourth years a man's hair grows quicker than at any other period. It takes an eyelash 20 weeks to reach a length of .438 inches, and then its life is from 100 to 150 days. By means of a camera the wink of an eyelid has been measured, and it was found that 20 winks can be made in four seconds.

THOUSANDS GATHER AT BATHS

Arabian Men and Women Make Meeting Place of Springs at Hamman-Riha.

Dr. Georges Martin of the thermal station of Hamman-Riha gives an interesting account of the Arabs who come in crowds to take the baths at that station. Their number every year can be estimated at more than 20,000.

Of these bathers about two-thirds are women. Besides the medical effect the baths are for the Arab woman a meeting place, where she encounters her friends, as they remain a long time in the baths, three-quarters of an hour or more. They dip themselves in the water from time to time; then, sitting on the curb, they chat, laugh and sing.

Sometimes one of them addresses an invocation to the Sultan Sillman (Solomon), patron of the springs hidden in the mountain. The more believing sometimes receive their recompense in seeing the steam rise from the waters. After the bath the native rolls himself in his cloak and lies in the sun.

To quench the burning thirst which the very warm bath gives Arabs suck the juice of lemons or oranges or they go to the "cafe maure" attached to the baths to drink a tiny cup of coffee. Many Arabs, instead of coming to the establishment, prefer to take the bath in the open air. On the side of the hill a spring flows from the rock and the natives come to bathe in the natural basin where the water gushes out.

As a votive offering the women hang portions of their veils on the neighboring bushes. The childless come there piously to plunge in their small stuffed dolls. It is there that the prayer is above all agreeable to Sillman. They sacrifice fowls to him, they burn incense and spices in the earthen braziers, and it is in his honor that the little many-colored wax tapers stuck in the ground burn so often at night.

MEANING OF WILLOW PATTERN

Originally a Chinese Design and Dates Back as Far as the Thirteenth Century.

The willow pattern is a Chinese design and very ancient, dating probably as far back as the thirteenth century; less than two centuries later it was reproduced in the potteries of Holland. This pattern is a very complicated design containing many figures in small space. In the foreground is a palatial building, around which cluster impossible trees laden with flowers and fruit.

Close by is a lake, an inlet from which hang the drooping limbs of a willow tree, and far out in the lake is a houseboat. Three figures are passing over the bridge, while high up in the air a pair of billing and cooling doves are suspended. The imaginary legend of the willow pattern design is said to be as follows:

A nobleman living in the palace had a fair daughter who had fallen in love with a youth of low degree. One night, with the help of a ladder, the youth abducted the willing maiden and the somewhat shapeless figures on the bridge are supposed to represent the feeling damsel carrying her burden of misery, the daring lover, bearing the ladder, and the irate father, having in his hand an instrument of castigation.

The boat in the distance is meant to represent the agent in the escape of the devoted lovers from the wrath of the angry parent, while the doves overhead symbolize the fact that they married and lived happily ever after, in the manner of the usual mythical tale.—From the Housekeeper.

PASSED EVENING IN PEACE

Foxy Pittsburg Man Devised Scheme Which Worked Out Into a Beautiful Success.

The wise man of Pittsburg lives in Shady side. If there's one thing he loves to do when he goes home it is to read a book in peace. One night when he arrived home he was informed by wife and daughters that they were to have company that night. The wise man's face fell as he contemplated the new volume under his arm, "one of the six best," etc. Who were they? O, some women friends. "I'll beat the game," said Mr. Wise Man to himself. Immediately after the evening meal he dashed out to East Liberty, bought one of those cut-up picture puzzles, with 250 pieces in it, dashed back again, and when the company arrived and had been comfortably seated, he interrupted the chatter to spring the puzzle on the unsuspecting women. They fell into the trap. The only table big enough for the game was the large dining table. This was cleared, and all gathered about to patch the big picture together.

When they were well absorbed, Mr. Wise Man took his book off in a corner, in a comfortable rocker, and read until aroused after midnight only by the departure of the company. The picture lay on the dining table about one-quarter complete. The guests were invited to come again.

The next morning breakfast was served in the kitchen on a small table, because mother and daughters refused to disturb the puzzle until they had completed it. For a week the puzzle occupied the dining table and mother and the girls would work at it in odd moments, while Mr. Wise Man read his books.—Pittsburg Gazette Times.

PRESUDICE.

Curious to state, prejudice keeps us out of more good things than does lack of opportunity.

We often pass by an article of merit because the price is low. The same article at double the price would find us eager to try it. K C Baking Powder sells for one-third the price of the Baking Powders controlled by the "Trust."

Yet K C is guaranteed the Best Baking Powder at any price.

The ladies of this city who have seen what K C Baking Powder will do prefer it to any other. They are only too glad to save their money and get a better article. It's the difference between "Trust" prices and those of fair, honest competition.

A 25 ounce can of K C Baking Powder for 25 cents—and your money returned if you don't like it better.

CHAPTER IX.

MISS ELLIOTT'S expression, when I turned to observe the effect of the intruder upon her, was found to be one of brilliant delight. With glowing eyes, her lips parted in a breathless ecstasy, she gazed upon the newcomer, evidently fearing to lose a syllable that fell from his lips. Moving closer to me, she whispered urgently:

"Keep him—oh, keep him!" To detain him for a time at least, was my intention, though my motive was not merely to afford her pleasure. The advent of the young man had produced a singularly disagreeable impression upon me, quite apart from any antagonism I might have felt toward him as a type. Strange suspicions leaped into my mind, formless—in the surprise of the moment—but rapidly groping toward definite outline, and following hard upon them came a tingling apprehension.

"Now, about how much," he asked slowly, "would you expect to get for a pitcher that size?"

"It isn't mine," I informed him.

"You don't tell me it's the little lady's—what?" He bowed genially

"The name you'd see on 'em is Oil Policy."

and favored Miss Elliott with a stare of warm admiration. "Pretty a thing as I ever see," he added.

"Oh," she cried, with an ardor that choked her slightly, "thank you!"

"Oh, I meant the pitcher," he said hastily, evidently nonplused by a gratitude so fervent.

The incorrigible damsel cast down her eyes in modesty. "And I had hoped," she breathed, "something so different!"

I could not be certain whether or not he caught the whisper. I thought he did. At all events, the surface of his easy assurance appeared somewhat disarranged, and perhaps to restore it by performing the rites of etiquette he said:

"Well, I expect the smart thing now is to pass the cards, but mine's in my grip, and it ain't unpacked yet. The name you'd see on 'em is Oil Policy."

"Oil Policy," echoed Miss Elliott, turning to me in genuine astonishment.

"Mr. Earl Percy," I translated.

"Oh, rapturous!" she cried, her face radiant. "And won't Mr. Percy give us his opinion of my art?"

He turned again to the easel, and as he examined the painting thereon at closer range amazement overspread his features. However, pulling himself together, he found himself able to reply with great gallantry:

"Well, only I think them little hands and 'a' done all that rough work!"

I saved the girl's feelings by entering into the conversation with a question, which I put quickly:

"You intend pursuing your historical researches in the neighborhood?"

"Them fairy tales I handed you about old Jeanne d'Arc and William the Conqueror," he said, "say, they must 'a' made you sore afterwards!"

"On the contrary, I was much interested in everything pertaining to your too brief visit," I returned. "I am even more so now."

"Well, my friend," he shot me a side-long, distrustful glance—"keep yer eyes open."

"That is just the point," I laughed, with intentional significance, for I meant to make Mr. Percy talk as much as I could. To this end, remembering that specimens of this kind are most indiscreet when carefully enraged, I added, stimulating his own manner:

"Eyes open and doors locked! What?"

"I guess they ain't much need of lockin' your door," he retorted darkly, "not from what I saw when I was in your studio." He should have stopped there, for the hit was palpable and justified, but in his resentment he overdid it. "You needn't be scared of anybody's carlin' of them pitchers, young feller! Whoosh! An' fin the licks of the clo'es I saw hangin' on the wall," he continued, growing more nettled as I smiled cheerfully upon him. "I don't believe you got any worries comin' about them neither."

"I suppose our tastes are different," I said, letting my smile broaden. "There might be protection to that."

His stare at me was protracted to an unseemly length before the sting of this remark reached him. It penetrated finally, however.

"As I tell the little dame here," he said, pitching his voice higher and affecting the plaintive, "I make no passes at a friend of hers—not in front of her, anyways. But when it comes to these here ole, ancient curiosities"—he cracked again loudly—"well, I guess them clo'es I see that day kin hand it out t' anything they got in the museums."

"Look here," I says to the waiter, "these must be'n left over from ole Jeanne d'Arc herself," I says. "Talk about yer relics," I says. "Whoosh! I like t' died!" He laughed violently and concluded by turning upon me with a contemptuous flourish of his stick.

"You think I know what makes you so raw?"

The form of repartee necessary to augment his ill humor was, of course, a matter of simple mechanism for one who had not entirely forgotten his student days in the quarter, and I delivered it alitly, though I shivered inwardly that Miss Elliott should hear.

"Everything will be all right if when you dine at the inn you'll sit with your back toward me."

To my shameless surprise this remark about wit drew a nervous, silvery giggle from her, and that completed the work with Mr. Percy, whose face grew scarlet with anger.

"You're a hot one, you are," he sneered, with shocking bitterness. "You're quite the teaser, ain't ye, slong's yer lady friend is takkin' on? I guess they'll be a few surprises comin' your way before long. I traps I don't give ye one now 'f I had a mind to."

"Pshaw!" I laughed and, venturing at hazard, said, "I know all you know."

"Oh, you do?" he cried scornfully. "I reckon you might set up an' take a little notice, though, if you knowed 'at I know all you know!"

"Not a bit of it!"

"No? Maybe you think I don't know what makes you so raw with me; maybe you think I don't know who ye've got so thick with at this here Pigeon house; maybe you think I don't know who them people are?"

"No, you don't. You have learned," I said, trying to control my excitement, "nothing. Whoever hired you for a spy lost the money. You don't know anything."

"I don't!" And with that his voice went to a half shriek. "Maybe you think I'm down here for my health; maybe you think I come out for a pleasant walk in the woods right now; maybe you think I ain't seen no other lady friend of yours besides this'n to-day, and maybe I didn't see who was with her—yes, an' maybe you think I'd know no other times he's been with her; maybe you think I ain't been layin' low over at Dixey's; maybe I don't know a few real names in this neighborhood! Oh, no, maybe not!"

"You know what the maitre d'hotel told you, nothing more."

"How about the name—Oliver Saffren?" he cried fiercely, and at that, though I had expected it, I uttered an involuntary exclamation.

"How about it?" he shouted, advancing toward me triumphantly, shaking his forefinger in my face. "Hey? That stings some, does it? Sounds kind o' like a false name, does it? Got ye where the hair is short that time, didn't it? Your side's where the trouble is. That's what's eatin' into you. An' I tell you flatfoot you're fittin' rough 'ith me and playin' Charley the Show-off in front o' yer lady friends 't all go down in the bill. These people ye've got so chummy with—they'll pay for it all right, don't you shed no tears over that!"

"You couldn't by any possibility," I said deliberately, with as much satire as I could command—"you couldn't possibly mean that any sum of mere money might be a satire for the injuries my unkind words have inflicted."

He seemed upon the point of destroying me physically, but, with a slight shudder, controlled himself. Stepping close to me, he thrust his head forward and measured the emphasis of his speech by his right forefinger upon my shoulder as he said:

"You point this in yer pitchers, t' dear friend—the'st as much law in this country as they is on the corner o' Twenty-third street an' Fifth avenue! You keep out of the way of it or you'll git runned over!"

Delivering a final tap on my shoulder as a last warning he wheeled deftly upon his heel, addressed Miss Elliott briefly, "Glad t' know you, lady," and, striking into the bypath by which he had approached us, was soon lost to sight.

The girl faced me excitedly. "What is it?" she cried. "It seemed to me you insulted him deliberately."

"I did."

"You wanted to make him angry?"

"Yes."

"Oh, I thought, so?" she exclaimed breathlessly. "I knew there was something serious underneath. It's about Mr. Saffren."

"It is serious indeed, I fear," I said and, turning to my own easel, began to get my traps together.

"I want you to go to see Mrs. Harman at once and tell her not to leave Quesnay for at least two days. As for myself, I must go now to look up Keredec and Oliver Saffren."

The girl started manfully upon her journey. I started after her for a moment or more, watching the pretty brown dress flashing in and out of shadow among the ragged greenery. Then I picked up my own pack and set out for the inn.

As I went through the woods that day, breathless with haste and curiosity, my brain became suddenly, unaccountably busy with a dream I had had two nights before. I had not recalled this dream on waking; the recollection of it came to me now for the first time. Yet I had been thinking so constantly of Mrs. Harman that there was nothing extraordinary in her worthless ex-husband being part of it. But, and yet, looking back upon that last, hurried walk of mine through the forest, I see how strange it was that I could not quit remembering how in my dream I had gone motorizing up Mount Pilatus with the man I had seen so pitifully demolished on the Versailles road two years before—Larabee Harman.

BAKING ECONOMY

By the use of perfect baking powder the housewife can derive as much economy as from any other article used in baking and cooking. In selecting a baking powder, therefore, care should be exercised to purchase one that retains its original strength and always remains the same, thus making the food sweet and wholesome, and producing sufficient leavening gas to make the baking light.

Very little of this leavening gas is produced by the cheap baking powders, making it necessary to use double the quantity ordinarily required to secure good results.

You cannot experiment every time you make a cake or biscuits, or test the strength of your baking powder to find out how much of it you should use; yet with most baking powders you should do this, for they are put together so carelessly they are never uniform, the quality and strength varying with each can purchased.

Calumet Baking Powder is made of chemically pure ingredients, of tested strength. Experienced chemists put it up. The proportions of the different materials remain always the same. Sealed in airtight cans, Calumet Baking Powder does not alter in strength and is not affected by atmospheric changes.

In using Calumet you are bound to have uniform bread, cake or biscuits, as Calumet does not contain any cheap, useless or adulterating ingredients so commonly used to increase the weight. Further, it produces pure, wholesome food and is a baking powder of rare merit; therefore, is recommended by leading physicians and chemists. It complies with all pure food laws, both State and National. The goods are moderate in price, and any lady purchasing Calumet from her grocer, if not satisfied with it, can return it and have her money refunded.

RIDING IN HORSE CARS

Baggage and express matter is now being carried over this division of the Northwestern railroad in palace horse cars. One of the employees on the road informs us that the company is making repairs to a number of their regular baggage cars and traveling stables will be substituted until the yellow cars are again put into service.

The baggage and express men, who run through this city, object to living in these barns which are considerably narrower than the regular cars, making it very inconvenient for the handling of heavy trunks.

500 BRIDGE MILE LONG

Several workmen left Rhinelander last Saturday for New Richmond to be employed on the building of the new Soo line bridge over the St. Croix river on the new cut off between New Richmond and Witnrow, Minn., where the Chicago division (formerly the Wisconsin Central) is to join the main line. The bridge is to be 185 feet above the low water mark in the St. Croix. This is approximately 100 feet higher than the bridge now in use, about one mile farther down the river. Contractors are on the ground laying out camps and arranging the preliminaries for the construction. Between New Richmond and Witnrow the road is to be practically an air line. Despite the unfavorable lay of the land, grades and curves are to be almost eliminated. The new bridge will be nearly one mile long. New Richmond will be the headquarters for the construction work on that end of the division.

Indian Dandruff Remedy
Entirely Unlike All Others
—Free from Alcohol
THAT is one great reason for its universal success. More than that—it is the only Natural treatment for all hair troubles, because it contains the Essence of the hair and stimulates the hair follicles to life and health. Other hair tonics are full of alcohol, which not only stunts the growth of the hair, but also causes itching and dandruff. Indian Dandruff Remedy contains only one-half of one percent of alcohol and no artificial oils or chemicals.
It is absolutely harmless, and a refreshing remedy for dandruff, dead, dull, split, gray and falling hair. Its clean, antiseptic odor and delightful feeling to the user cannot be had in any other preparation. A short trial will show astonishing results.

enthusiasm as at any time during the Follow this advice.

Quaker Oats is the best of all foods;
it is also the cheapest. When such men as Prof. Fisher of Yale University and Sir James Crichton Browne, LL.D., F.R.S., of London spend the best part of their lives in studying the great question of the nourishing and strengthening qualities of different foods, it is certain that their advice is absolutely safe to follow.
Professor Fisher found in his experiments for testing the strength and endurance of athletes that the meat eaters were exhausted long before the men who were fed on such food as Quaker Oats. The powers of endurance of the non-meat eaters were about eight times those of the meat eaters.
Sir James Crichton Browne says—eat more oatmeal, eat plenty of it and eat it frequently.
Buy it in the regular 10c package,
or the large size family package at 25c.

FATHER 80-MOTHER 76
The aged father and mother of a prominent Boston lawyer

Vinol
The son says: "My father and mother owe their present strength and good health to Vinol. During the last two trying winters neither of them had a cold, and were able to walk farther and do more than for years.
I think Vinol is perfectly wonderful. It certainly is the greatest blood-making, strengthening tonic for old people I ever heard of."
We want every feeble old person in this town to try Vinol. We will return their money without question if it does not accomplish all we claim for it.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX"
A superb company of players will be seen at Opera House on Tuesday, April 5, in a splendid revival of Harold McGrath's classic story, "The Man on the Box," dramatized by Grace Livingston Furniss. This play ran over 200 nights in New York and was an instantaneous and decided hit from the moment of its first production and has in no degree lost any of its beautiful and pleasing powers to catch and hold in its entrancing and fascinating spell the hearts of its hearers and delight them with its strong heart interest, its delicious, high class comedy, as pure and rich as the crisp and sparkling wit, fresh from the pen of a master hand who has in one grand stroke, reached every passion of the human soul. The piece will be correctly staged and costumed in every detail.
The book has been very widely read and as the play closely follows the book, it will be an evening of rare entertainment for all.

ATTACKED BY HOODLUMS
Appleton, Wis., March 25—Eggs and stones were the missiles used by a gang of hoodlums Thursday night in an attack on U. G. Humphrey of Milwaukee, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League and the Rev. E. O. Bullock and wife of Hortonville, at the conclusion of a no license lecture at the city hall.
The party was literally drenched with eggs—Milwaukee Sentinel.

SEASON OPENS MAY 1ST
The New North wishes to inform sportsmen that they should not be misled by articles appearing in a number of newspapers stating that the brook trout season will open April 15. It will not be lawful to catch trout in this state until on and after May 1st. Anglers who attempt to cast for the "speckled beauties" during April are liable to have trouble with the game wardens.

TURTLE SHELL BEARS DATE While roaming about the woods in the vicinity of Crescent lake, last Saturday, Ralph Danfield and Paul Smith, young Rhinelander boys, killed a large mud turtle on the skull of which had been carved two crude looking crosses and the date 1887.
The figures were quite distinct. It is believed that they had been carved on the shell in the year mentioned by Indians or woodsmen. The shell will be preserved by the boys as a curiosity.

PERCH ARE PLENTIFUL
Perch in large quantities are being caught these days in the Wisconsin river. Each morning the Davenport Street bridge is lined with men and boys in quest of the finny family.
The perch are of extra size this year and seem to take to the hook readily.
A few suckers and red horse can be seen in the waters but these fish have not yet started to run in large numbers.

FISH CAR APPEARS
The state fish commission car
"Badger" made its first trip through Rhinelander attached to the Northwestern train Tuesday forenoon. The car has been at hatcheries at Bayfield and Minocqua, receiving consignments of fish fry for distribution in the southern part of the state.
Hundreds of cans of trout will be planted in the streams of Oneida and other northern Wisconsin counties this spring.

ANSWER

One—the flat, sad, sickly looking one—was baked with poor baking powder; possibly the high price kind—possibly the cheap, big can kind. It denotes a lack of leavening gas, or an uneven distribution of same—or both. The other—the large, light, fluffy one—was prepared with Calumet Baking Powder, and denotes the never-failing, delicious baking that always results from its use.

Calumet does not cost as much as the high price baking powder, but it is very much superior in every way—it is purer—more reliable—more healthful. Here are the reasons:

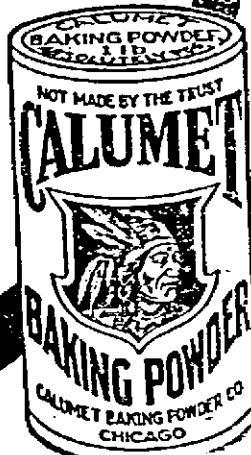

All baking powders undergo a chemical change in the process of baking. You do not take it into the stomach in the same form as it is in the can. For example: When you use Cream of Tartar Baking Powder you get Rochelle Salts in your food, because the Cream of Tartar during this reaction turns into Rochelle Salts. This, as you know, is a drug, and should be taken only under doctor's orders.

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared, that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect.

That it is absolutely pure and of highest quality is proven by the fact that

EASTER BALL A SUCCESS

The members of Company L are elated over the success of their annual Easter ball given at Armory hall Monday evening. As it was the first dance after the Lenten season, the attendance was very large. It is estimated that one hundred and fifty couples were on the floor. The Military orchestra furnished the music and as usual gave splendid satisfaction. All present report a delightful evening and have much praise for the hospitality of the soldier boys.

AN EXCITING RUN AWAY

Messrs Anderson and Gustafson receive injuries in jumping.

While standing near Hans Anderson's warehouse, Saturday afternoon a team owned by Chas. Gustafson, became frightened at a Northwestern locomotive and ran away. Mr. Gustafson and Mr. Anderson were in the wagon when the horses started, and in jumping out, both gentlemen were slightly injured. Mr. Anderson sustained a broken ankle and Mr. Gustafson's ankle was sprained.

The team went up Rives street and turned at the M. E. church corner down Stevens street. As the horses neared the New North office, Markham and Dan Moore made a spectacular attempt to stop them. Upon grasping the lines and Markham climbed onto the wagon and after going about two blocks the young men finally succeeded in bringing the team to a stand still. The crowd, gathered along the street, loudly applauded the boys for their daring.

HURT BY THE CARS

Peter Loax Meets With Injury at Pelican Lake.

Peter Loax, one of the camp employees of the Stevens Lumber Company, is at St. Mary's hospital suffering with a crushed foot as the result of trying to board the north bound Northwestern passenger train at Pelican Lake Saturday afternoon. Those who witnessed the accident say that the man was intoxicated and when he endeavored to get on the train as it was pulling out of the station, his foot slipped under the wheels. The injured man was taken to the hospital in this city where Dr. McDougal found it necessary to amputate one of his toes.

Loax was well supplied with money having in his possession several dollars in change and a check for over one hundred dollars.

NORTHERN LIGHTS DISPLAY

Rhinelander people had the rare opportunity of witnessing an unusually brilliant display of the aurora borealis or northern lights last Sunday evening. Those who viewed the phenomenon agree that they had never before seen the lights so bright and beautiful. The display was visible until near midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Hosmer, of Chicago are soon to become residents of Rhinelander. They will move here as soon as a suitable residence can be found for their occupancy. Mr. Hosmer with his son, H. P. Hosmer, is interested in the Northern Jobbing Company and has practically made this city his headquarters for the last year.

Information to Voters

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters: A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have endorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other taken into the booth, and may be used. Upon receiving his ballot the voter must retire alone, not be shown so that any person can to a booth or compartment and pre-see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking same.

If the voter wishes to vote for a person for a certain office whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office.
